WHO IS GLV

@GLV.MARKETING

Most local marketing stops working the moment you stop paying.

This is GLV Marketing. Here's why we exist, what we do, and what makes us different from every other agency in Northern Ontario.

GLV started because local businesses deserve marketing that lasts.

Most agencies hand you a report and call it a month. The results reset with the billing cycle. We built GLV to change that pattern: an agency where each month's work adds to the last.

By month 6, most businesses are right where they started.

They paid for ads, got some clicks, stopped paying, lost them. Paid for SEO, got a report, watched nothing rank. Marketing that resets isn't marketing. It's a subscription to standing still.

GLV is built to produce marketing infrastructure that compounds.

We work with a small number of clients at a time. Every account gets a full strategy, a real foundation, and consistent execution that builds from month one onward.

Month 3 looks different. Month 6 looks completely different.

Most agencies sell month-to-month relationships. We build systems where each month adds to the last. The longer you work with us, the more your marketing earns. That's the model.

Based in Sault Ste. Marie. Working with businesses across Canada.

Northern Ontario is where we started. Most of our clients are here because they needed someone who understood the local market. We take on clients from anywhere in Canada. Location has never been a barrier.

Every client runs through the same research, build, and execution cycle.

That structure is what makes results compound. We apply the same method every time, built from what we've seen actually work for local businesses. The results stack because the work does.

What does your marketing do when you stop paying for it?

If the answer is 'stops,' that's worth a conversation. Follow along to see what marketing that compounds looks like, from real client work to the strategies and tools we use every week.
